108th Infantry Also Goes Through Gun Drill and Study of Combat Principles at Peekskill

ROCHESTER National Guard companies of the 108th Infantry this week are completing their training at Camp Smith, Peekskill, Sgt. A. W. Crittenden of the 108th Infantry, who is at the camp, writes the following article for The Times-Union:

By SGT. A. W. CRITTENDEN

After a Sunday holiday for the majority of the Rochester companies of the 108th Infantry, activities were resumed Monday with renewed vigor.

The program for Rifle Companies G and E consisted of extended order work and combat principles, including anti-aircraft defense. Their program for yesterday was to be practically the same. Machine Gun Company H completed advanced gun drill Monday and the program for Monday included combat principles.

Yesterday was a busy day for the Howitzer Company, the morning being spent in field firing while the afternoon they were to present a demonstration representing a howitzer platoon in support of a regiment in attack. This demonstration, under Capt. Donald Marsh, was to be presented before all officers of the 107th and 108th regiments.

A brigade parade at camp Friday afternoon was in honor of Maj. Gen. George E. Leach, chief of the militia bureau of the U. S. Army. General Leach passed through G Company street following the parade and commended the company on fire appearance.

G Company performed interior guard duty Friday, the detail being: Captain Kelly, officer of the day; Lieutenant Weber, officer of the guard; Sergeant Schleker, sergeant of the guard; Sergeant Eckrick, color sergeant; Corporals McCully, Babcock, LeCompte, bugler; J. Murch, and Privates Zaldini, Godfrey, LeRoy, Moore, McDonald, Borelli, Bresnahan, Closser, Chapelle, DeLella, Erholt, Irene, Koch, Kodwiese, Legg, McNeal, Shields, Smith, Tette, Van Voorhis, Weiman, Woodward and Luckhurst.

Captain Kelly announced today that G Company had made a total of 38 qualifications on the range as follows: Rifle, 24; pistol, 9, and automatic rifle, 5. He also announced that the emergency squad, consisting of Sgts. D. N. Finkle, Frank Don, Ray Eckrich, Angelo Cardaro, George McCully, Carl Babcock, Thomas LeCompte, Frank Koch and Charles Tice, had received instructions in riot duty and tear gas methods. This is the only squad of its kind in the regiment.

Whip Wife Beater In Maryland Town

Ellicott City, Md.—(AP)—For the first time in 40 years the whipping post of Howard County was used yesterday when James Barnes, a young Negro, received five lashes for wife beating.

Wife-beating is the only crime punishable in Maryland at the whipping post.

JUDGE FAVORS ROUGH USAGE OF PRISONERS

Millersburg, Ohio.—(AP)—"Hard-boiled" methods of dealing with "thick-skinned" types of criminals, were defended today by Common Pleas Judge Robert B. Putnam, who recently sentenced two men to the whipping post.

"Some persons can be educated into respect for law, but others have to be jolted into it," said the Holmes County judge, adding, "if it takes a jolt, this Court is prepared to jolt. I believe in doing something to meet the present crisis rather than allow things to drift."

Just two weeks ago, Judge Putnam gave James Wynn, 51, and William Wynn, 48, brothers, their choice between 20 lashes with a horse whip, or a jail term, after they were found guilty of stealing and selling a refrigerator. They chose the lashes.

Dr. William Brady's Personal Health Service column is packed with good sense and just enough humor.

Golf Ball Thieves Must Go, Detective Chieftain Asserts

A drive against golf-ball thieves was launched today by the police department's most ardent golfer, Acting Detective Captain Anthony A. Andrews.

Alexander Tkachenko, 24, of 50 Henry Street, alleged to have been responsible for loss of numerous golf balls at Oak Hill Country Club, pleaded guilty in City Court to a petit larceny charge and received a 90-day suspended penitentiary term and probation for six months. When picked up in Genesee Valley Park Tkachenko had a basket of golf balls and attempted to throw them into the river, the captain said.

"These thefts have developed into a racket," declared Captain Andrews, "and we're going to stop them. Any golfer knows it is not the loss of the ball, but the loss of the stroke that matters."

Speaks Eight Hours

Punxsutawney, Pa.—Attorney Charles J. Margiotti, Punxsutawney, set a record in Luzerne County recently, where he defended a man accused of killing a labor leader four years ago. Margiotti's closing address to the jury was the longest ever made in Luzerne County courts. It required eight hours.

N. Y. BODY ASKS FEDERAL AID ON WORK PROJECTS

New York.—(AP)—William J. Pedrick, president of the Fifth Avenue Association, has announced his organization will ask Mayor James J. Walker to call immediately a meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment to consider making a request to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for a loan to continue work on the tri-borough bridge and to start work on a vehicular tunnel under the East River from 38th Street, Manhattan.

The board recently voted not to make any further appropriations at present for the bridge, work on which was begun late in 1929. No contracts have been let for the 38th Street tunnel.

In addition, Pedrick said, the City of New York might ask for a loan to start work on a proposed $100,000,000 tunnel under the Hudson River from 38th Street, Manhattan.

Government Closes Mine Where 4 Died

Amos, Que.—(AP)—A series of accidents which has taken four lives at the Beattie Mines, near here, has led to the Quebec Department of Mines ordering the shaft closed. Instructions were received from the department after J. Jones was killed over the weekend when he fell 50 feet down the shaft. Three other workers have lost their lives in the past month.

Injection or Ambulant Treatment Wins Again

By William Brady, M. D.

I WAS much interested in an article of yours headed "No Sympathy" (writes an eastern reader) Having had some experience I heartily agree with you and I cannot understand why physicians will not recommend this treatment for hemorrhoids and allied troubles.

(The reader refers, I suppose, to the injection or ambulant treatment which I recommend, provided the patient can find a physician of good professional standing who is skilled in the technique.)

Some time ago, the reader continues, I talked with our family physician and asked him why physicians do not approve of such treatment. He said it is principally because it was not used or recommended in the large clinics. He said that if you have the standard treatment or operation and anything untoward happened, you just died from it. But if you had this newfangled or unusual treatment and anything untoward happened, it would be ascribed to the "quackery" of the method. In any event, I have great sympathy for any one who is so troubled, and if you will give me the name and address of the person signing himself M. E. I will be happy to tell him where he can go and be cured by a physician who knows his business along this line.

I realize it would be unethical for you to recommend a particular doctor, but I would be at liberty to give the information (End of letter).

Unethical? Not at all. I do recommend individual physicians to my correspondents, scores of them every day.

While I cannot give the identity of any correspondent without his or her consent, I am glad to recommend physicians or specialists to correspondents who ask for them, when I happen to know of competent ones and can conscientiously recommend them. All by private letter, of course.

Here is one good reason why the layman should always make sure the physician or specialist he purposes to consult is of good professional standing. In the event that the doctor is without standing, for generally such persons are not responsible. On the other hand, if the doctor is one of good standing, he is responsible or at least he has sufficient insurance to cover any such claims.

There is much truth in what the correspondent's family physician told him about the intolerant attitude of the regular profession toward these innovations in practice. It is due to lack of leadership; the medical organization is at present controlled by narrow, self-seeking men, whose conduct of affairs brings emoluments for themselves, but little benefit to the profession at large or to the public.

In view of the sorry record of the profession in the diagnosis and treatment of rectal troubles, it comes with ill grace for any physician to criticize unfavorably the injection or ambulant treatment of these common and painful conditions, especially when he obviously knows nothing about the technique or its results.

I offer this as notice to the public that the injection treatment, in the hands of a qualified physician, is superior to the old surgical methods; and as warning to the profession that half-baked criticisms that come to my notice will be summarily considered.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS Children Like It

Dear Dr. Brady: I want to thank you for telling my mother about the injection treatment. I am 7 years old and it is just three years ago today I had my tonsils cut out. A few weeks ago Dr. ——— told me my tonsils. But I like to have it done by diathermy much better than surgically.

Sincerely yours,
R. S. A.

Answer.—Thank you, Roderick. Your letter tells the whole story. But I know there are few physicians who have the skill, patience and tact your doctor has. Most doctors who use diathermy for the removal of tonsils will not attempt it for a patient so young as you.

Smart Young Mother

Four years ago when I was expecting my first baby I wrote for your advice, and followed it, including the daily walk of a mile and monthly visit to my physician. My baby was born with practically no suffering. All the old fogies had predicted dire things because I was so young and so foolish about walking so much every day—but I fooled 'em. My second baby was delivered with even less trouble than the first. Now I believe our two bimbos are perfectly well and happy. I have to laugh when I see some of the old fogies with their babies bundled up on even these hot days, and see them walking the floor nights while my babies are sound asleep. They expressed horror when they saw my babies eating banana.

Answer.—At that, it's a lot of fun observing the quaint practices of the ignorant wisecracks, isn't it?

DEATHS OF 4 TO BE PROBED BY GRAND JURY

Two Women Are Held Pending Outcome of In- quiry into Murder Plot for Insurance

Pittsburgh.—(AP)—District Attorney Andrew T. Park today ordered an immediate Grand Jury hearing of charges of assault and battery preferred against two women, one of whom allegedly confessed to an insurance "murder" plot.

Decision to place the assault and battery case before the June Grand Jury rather than the September jury was made after Chief of County Detectives George W. Warren confessed with Park. Warren said he desired an immediate hearing to aid detectives in their investigation of the alleged "murder" plot.

The two women are Mrs. Mary Chalfa, 31, Munhall, Pa., and Mrs. Gizella Young, 35, Homestead, Pa., arrested after they allegedly had a cousin of Mrs. Chalfa, Mrs. Stella Chalfa.

Detectives claimed that Mrs. Young admitted the attack on Mrs. Stella Chalfa was part of a plan to collect on insurance policies held by one woman.

As a result of the alleged confession detectives are investigating the deaths of four persons in March and have asked Coroner W. J. McGregor to examine the body of one of them. Pending decision by McGregor on the exhumation request detectives are guarding the grave.

"CINE-KODAK EIGHT" MAKES ITS BOW

- The Eastman Kodak Company, that four decades ago made photography the pastime of millions, has started production of Cine-Kodak Eight, designed to bring home movies within the reach of all.
- The new camera is so planned that the amateur movie maker may make every foot of film go four times as far as at present. New models of Kodascopes will project the Cine-Kodak Eight movies. The cost of the film, with four images on each frame rather than one, will be reduced by about two-thirds, and the new camera and projector will be available at a cost far below that of present Cine-Kodak models.
- The manufacture of the new home movie equipment will give employment to Rochester workers. Potential customers for Cine-Kodak Eight are numbered by the millions.
- As always, Kodak looks to the future with confidence. Business will be better; and these new Eastman products, opening up new markets for Rochester-made goods, will help to make business better. Rochester, justifiably, takes pride in the industrial advance of the Eastman Kodak Company. Rochester rightfully regards this advance as a forecast of renewed business activity, and of increased employment here.
